The Sheila Murphy Scholarship Awards

The Leinster School of Music & Drama Honours Arts Patron with “The Sheila Murphy Music and Drama Scholarship Award”

The Leinster School of Music & Drama (LSMD) at Griffith College have announced the launch of The Sheila Murphy Music and Drama Scholarship Awards in memory of former director of the school, Miss Sheila Murphy.

Originally from Mitchelstown, Co. Cork, Sheila was a cherished member of the team at the LSMD and was appointed to the position of director in the 80s. Very much the essence of the music and drama school, the number of students increased from 3,000 to 15,000 in over 300 centres nationwide under her excellent guidance.

To mark the anniversary of Sheila’s passing, the scholarship serves to pay tribute to the contribution Sheila made to the School and her love for music and drama which spanned over five decades.

Head of Faculty of The Leinster School of Music & Drama, Karen Casey said, “Sheila was an inspiration to the thousands of students who passed through the doors of The Leinster School of Music & Drama. She is sorely missed but I think she would be happy to know that her name will go on to help and inspire future music and drama students and teachers in Ireland.”

These Scholarships will be available from September, to LSMD students who have completed their LSMD Grade 10 to progress to The Certificate in Drama Performance Course QQI 20 Credits (LSMD Drama Associate Diploma). The scholarship has a value of approx. €2500 euro and can be used to pay for the 20 credits programme, or in part payment towards the 45 credit or 60 credit programmes, depending on the number of suitable applicants who apply for the scholarship.

Candidates (18 years of age and over) wishing to apply for the scholarship should apply before 31st August, on-line/by post, include transcripts, a cover letter stating their interest in applying for the scholarship and the name of their music/drama teacher who may also offer a reference for the candidate. Please contact us at The Leinster School of Music & Drama for further details, other terms and conditions apply.

LSMD Teachers are advised that they may send details of this scholarship to students who they have taught in previous years, these scholarships are open to all LSMD candidates who have completed their grade 10 in Speech & Drama exams on the old/new syllabus. Please see griffith.ie/lsm-d-exams for further details.

Upskill for the Future: The LSMD Higher Diploma in Arts in Drama Education

As the educational landscape in Ireland continues to evolve, teachers are increasingly called upon to expand their skill sets and embrace new opportunities for professional development. One of the most exciting recent developments at second level is the introduction of the new Leaving Certificate subject in Drama, Film and Theatre Studies (DFTS), set to bring performance, creativity, and critical thinking to centre stage in our schools.

In response to this, The Leinster School of Music & Drama (LSMD) at Griffith College, Dublin, has enhanced its Higher Diploma in Arts in Drama Education—a part-time, flexible programme specifically designed for educators, practitioners, and aspiring drama teachers. Now more than ever, this programme stands out as a timely and ideal upskilling opportunity for post-primary teachers preparing to deliver the new subject and integrate performance-based learning into their teaching practice.

At its core, the LSMD Higher Diploma blends academic theory with hands-on practice, offering a comprehensive exploration of drama pedagogy, performance, voice, movement, and directing. With flexible delivery through blended learning, it supports working professionals who wish to balance career and study. Importantly, it is fully accredited at Level 8 on the National Framework of Qualifications.

New for this academic year is the exciting addition of a module in Practical, Visual Storytelling—a direct response to the growing need for interdisciplinary teaching in drama, film, and theatre. This module equips teachers with the skills to incorporate multimedia and digital storytelling techniques into classroom practice, reflecting the integrated nature of the new Leaving Cert subject. From stagecraft to screen, students of the programme will explore the language of visual narratives and learn how to guide their pupils in developing performances that are both technically competent and creatively engaging.

For English teachers, Transition Year coordinators, and educators with a passion for the arts, the LSMD Higher Diploma in Arts in Drama Education provides not only a pathway to subject specialisation, but also the tools to support cross-curricular collaboration, enhance student engagement, and nurture artistic expression within school communities. Graduates of the programme have gone on to establish drama departments, lead theatre productions, and develop innovative classroom projects rooted in performance and storytelling.

As schools prepare for the rollout of Drama, Film and Theatre Studies, now is the perfect time for teachers to invest in their professional development and position themselves as leaders in arts education. The LSMD Higher Diploma in Arts in Drama Education offers the training, support, and inspiration to meet this moment—and to shape the future of creative learning in Irish classrooms.

Applications are now open for the next intake. For more information, please visit griffith.ie/LSMD or contact the LSMD directly at admissions@griffith.ie
