NOTES

- Classes will be delivered via Zoom for the upcoming semester and all classes will be recorded for playback in case you cannot attend a class and to assist you with your revision and study.
- Induction will be held a week before you start your semester and you will receive an e-mail to invite you to induction. Induction will also be recorded.
- The dates for Saturday classes will be discussed by the lecture with the learners once the semester commences. This is so the learners and the lecturers can agree the dates together. These can be held live via Zoom for this semester.

- Class attendance is not mandatory but strongly encouraged.
- If you cannot attend on the day of your exam or are unable to submit an assessment, please note you can apply to defer it to the next sitting.
- You must be a fully registered learner to attend induction and also attend class. Lecturer Notes or Zoom links or Lecturer Recordings cannot be e-mailed to learners. All learners must access all course content via their Moodle Page. This is the platform used by College for all learners. Please apply in time for your programme.
- The course is validated as a blended programme. The module will be delivered via Zoom for this semester due to Covid 19 and a derogation given by QQI. The module delivery method may change to support ongoing delivery in post-Covid times from semester to semester, within the context of in line with the programme's validation.
- All programmes/modules are subject to minimum learner numbers to run.
