Welcome from the Head of Campus

Hello and welcome to the Griffith College Limerick part-time course prospectus.

This year we have increased our part-time course choices by adding the QQI Bachelor of Arts degree in Accounting and Finance (NFQ Level 8), the QQI Diploma in Digital Communications for Enterprise (NFQ Level 7) and MSc in International Procurement and Supply Management (NFQ Level 9). These courses are being introduced to offer more choices to our students and to compliment the suite of career focused courses already on offer; the ACCA Qualification, the three-year Bachelor of Arts degree in Business Studies (NFQ Level 8) and the Bachelor of Science degree in Computing Science (NFQ Level 7), among many others. All of these programmes, across a range of disciplines are designed for people who wish to further their careers through internationally recognised high level qualifications.

I hope you find a programme that suits you. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact the College.

Experienced
Lecturing
Team

After years of excuses I eventually took the plunge and went back to college and could not have been happier with Griffith College. The lecturers are extremely supportive, enthusiastic and engaging making it all the more appealing to attend every class. I felt totally at ease and welcomed not only by lecturers and classmates but by all the staff.

Marie

After making the decision to return to education, I enrolled in Griffith College Limerick hoping to obtain a degree in business. From the very first class, the quality and enthusiasm of the lecturers was evident but, as the weeks rolled on, the level of support and encouragement that was offered by all the staff in the college was truly motivational. Throughout my three years in the degree program, Griffith College helped me to develop not only my business acumen but also the ability to critically analyse both my own work and the information that is presented to me. It has been one of the most rewarding journeys that I have ever undertaken.

Barry

To start from scratch in an area such as IT where I had very little knowledge or experience was daunting enough in itself. Thankfully the lecturers that I had in first year were extremely good at what they do not only at lecturing but at giving advice and guidance when I needed it. As the classes were quite small there was a lot of time for one to one interaction which was great, particularly if I had difficulties with something.

Eoghan

As soon as I came over from South Africa to Ireland I started my course; Diploma in International Hospitality Management at Griffith College in Limerick. It was really easy to apply for the course and get started straight away. The facilities in the College are of very high standard and the lecturers of the highest quality. They are always willing to help and explain where things could be unclear for each individual as there are a large number of students from different cultures and languages.

Abrie

As a mature student, returning to third level education was a challenging but rewarding task. The team at Griffith College Limerick were very supportive in helping me achieve a work life balance between my studies and my full time job. At Griffith College Limerick, the course material was relevant, accessible and always topical. Class sizes were small which enabled lecturers to encourage as much participation as possible from students. Overall, I would highly recommend the BA (Hons) in Business Studies (part-time) especially for those wishing to work full time while pursuing further education in the Business Field.
