

Tax Trainee – Cronin & Company, Dublin

We currently have an opportunity for a graduate or postgraduate to join our tax team. The successful candidate will have the opportunity to sit the Irish Taxation Institute exams and/or Chartered Tax Advisor (CTA) exams, with financial and study support from Cronin & Company. Whilst the trainee will initially be based in our tax department, there may be opportunities to gain exposure to other service areas, offering future progression opportunities.

Just by way of briefing about ourselves – we are a progressive firm operating in Terenure. At the moment we have 59 staff members, headed up by three Partners and a number of Directors. We provide an extensive range of accounting, tax, company secretarial etc. services to small and medium sized companies and individuals and take a hands-on approach in everything we do. We create ideas and solutions which bring added value to our clients. The main feature that we pride ourselves on is our service to clients. We try to make ourselves available to clients as much as they need, and we understand the importance of communicating back to clients in a timely manner.

We adopt the same ethos in terms of our new starters. We will aim to position you as an integral member of our tax team and have you carry out work across a number of disciplines to broaden your tax knowledge. We will equip you with the necessary skills and knowledge in order to become an excellent professional in your field. This will eventually lead you to managing a portfolio of clients and lead tax assignments.

The role and responsibilities

This role will provide exposure across multiple tax areas involving tax compliance work but also gives an introduction to tax planning and allows you to progress further and improve your knowledge across all areas of tax. You will interact on a regular basis with the Revenue Commissioners, our clients and your fellow work colleagues across all teams.

Your initial responsibilities will be focusing on income tax and corporation tax compliance, ensuring all deadlines are met and tax returns are filed on time. You will be working closely with the income tax manager and corporation tax manager on these projects. As your tax knowledge develops, your role may evolve into tax planning type projects whereby you will be involved in providing innovative tax planning solutions to our clients.
